SS.912.A.3.2 - Industrial Revolution - Example 8 Answer

During the early 1800s, which factor contributed the most to the start of the Industrial Revolution in the United States?

a. a restriction on European immigration
b. the end of the slave labor system
c. an abundance of natural resources
d. the availability of electricity

Answer

c. an abundance of natural resources

America had an abundance of natural gas, coal and iron ore.